LA VIRGEN DEL TEPEYAC

El Teatro Campesino presents a first performance in San Francisco of its traditional Christmas miracle play, La Virgen del Tepeyac.

As adapted by Luis Valdez from a centuries-old Mexican folk drama, the play, in a spectacular pageant of color, music and dance, dramatizes the four miraculous apparitions of the Virgin of Guadalupe to the indio Juan Diego outside of Mexico City in 1531.

The play recreates the first appearance of the Mother of Christ in the history of Christianity. For El Teatro, this represents a blending of European Christianity and indigenous spiritual and cultural beliefs.

With a message of peace and harmony for all peoples of the world, La Virgen is El Teatro's thought-provoking offering commemorating 500 years of the dramatic merging of two distinct worlds.

Performed and sung entirely in Spanish, the spirit and music of the play transcend language barriers. La Virgen provides a moving and joyous experience, embodying the essence of the Christmas season.

Rosa Maria Escalante, Education Director and longtime veteran of El Teatro, directs an impressive cast of professional actors and seasoned community performers who have made a family tradition of participating in the annual Christmas pageants performed in the Mission of San Juan Bautista.

Luis Valdez is the founder and artistic director of El Teatro Campesino and a founding member of the California Arts Council. His other plays include Zoot Suit, which won the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle Award for Distinguished Production as well as eight DramaLogue awards; and Corridos! Tales of Passion and Revolution, a striking visual history of Mexican folklore and songs, which appeared on PBS and received the prestigious George Peabody Award.

Zoot Suit was the first play by a Chicano playwright to be presented on Broadway. Valdez is also the author of I Don't Have to Show You No Stinking Badges, which toured nationally.

La Virgen del Tepeyac appears to Juan Diego.

In 1981, Valdez wrote and directed the motion picture version of Zoot Suit for Universal Pictures, garnering a Golden Globe nomination for Best Musical. With the overwhelming box-office success of La Bamba in 1987, which he wrote and directed, Valdez proved that he could also conquer Hollywood.

Originally founded to dramatize the plight and cause of campesinos (farmworkers) during the Grape Strike of 1963, El Teatro Campesino, of San Juan Bautista, California, has since expanded its focus to include the concerns of a broader spectrum of the Chicano/Latino population.

Under the leadership of Valdez, the company is dedicated to the development and production of artistic works and talent representing Chicano/Latino perspectives. Each year, the company presents a diverse offering of new plays, reinterpretations of classics, and new music-theater works.

La Virgen del Tepeyac is presented in the Cowell Theater, December 19 through January 3. For days and times, see 12/19. Tickets are $20 to $24. For information, call 392-4400.

BOLOGNA FOR CHRISTMAS

The hilarious holiday tradition perpetrated by Fratelli Bologna is back in residence at Life On The Water. The fifth edition of The Weber Family Christmas: a charmingly blasphemous yuletide tale opens the season with its own peculiar brand of cheer.

The audience joins the Webers as they prepare their familiar, yet skewed, Christmas Eve rituals: a pageant and carols, the "Sisters" dance from White Christmas, a swami visitation, a little animated sex education, a microwave feast, and much more.

The play has been described by Robert Hurwitt of the San Francisco Examiner as "a grand concoction of kitsch holiday trappings, easy-going but pointed social satire, pop iconoclasm and glorious fun." Steven Winn, San Francisco Chronicle critic, says "This crackpot take on a typical American family's cozy holiday revels is a head-first dive into the punchbowl of Middle-America neuroses."

Written by Fratelli Bologna and Martin Higgins and directed by Albert Takazauckas, the show is presented by Climate Theatre.

Fratelli Bologna, a group recognized for its engaging comedy and zany behaviour, consists of a quartet of funny guys: Richard Dupell, William Hall, John X. Heart and Drew Letchworth. Among their productions have been The Commedia Bowl, a spoof on football tournaments, and The Bologna Medea, an ancient Greek travesty.

Collectively and individually, Fratelli Bologna have appeared in nine major films, including The Right Stuff, The Competition, The Dead Pool and Tucker.

The play is presented in the Life On The Water Theatre, Landmark Building B. There are preview performances on Friday and Saturday, November 27 and 28 at 8pm, and Sunday, November 29 at 2pm. The regular run opens December 2 and continues through December 27, Wednesday through Saturday 8pm, Sunday 2pm, plus additional performances on Tuesday, December 15, 8pm; Sunday, December 20, 8pm; and Tuesday, December 22, 8pm. There are no shows on Thursday or Friday, December 24 or 25.

The Weber Elves will gladly accept donations of canned or packaged food at every performance for Project Open Hand and the AIDS Food Bank.

Tickets range from $14 to $22. Preview tickets are $7. Discount tickets for groups of ten or more are available through Linda Graham, 346-7805. For reservations, call Life On The Water box office, 776-8999.

PADDINGTON BEAR

The "teddybear from Darkest Peru" is coming to Fort Mason Center for the holidays. Young Performers Theatre presents Adventures of a Bear Called Paddington.

This most unusual and lovable bear is discovered at Paddington Station by the Brown family, and the mischief begins, in this frolicking, fun-filled entertainment. Paddington wins first place in an art competition using marmelade as his medium. Then he paints a ceiling, bakes a pie and fixes a broken water tap all at the same time.

Young Performers Theatre and the BASS Ticket Foundation are collaborating to make the holidays especially nice for disadvantaged youth in the Bay Area. Together they present a matinee on December 22 for children from residential hotels in the Tenderloin Neighborhood Development Center, the Whitney Young Child Development Center of Bayview-Hunter's Point, East Oakland's Native American Health Center and Richmond's PAL.

Each child attending receives a teddybear to take home, provided by Sierra Pacific Property, Inc. The bears are presented by a guest celebrity Santa Claus.

Young Performers Theatre is a professional children's theater that puts on seven or eight shows each year. It also tours local schools with productions, offers classes in the dramatic arts, and is available for children's theater parties. YPT also houses an adult wing called the Noel Coward Players. YPT is a nonprofit organization headquartered in Landmark Building C at Fort Mason Center.

Adventures of a Bear Called Paddington is presented Friday at 7:30pm, Saturday and Sunday at 1 and 3:30pm from December 4 through 20, plus 1pm matinees Monday through Wednesday, December 21, 22 and 23. Hosted birthday and holiday parties are available.

Tickets are $5 for children 24 months through 12 years, $7 for 13 years and older. For more information and reservations, call 346-5550.

DOLCI DI NATALE

The Magic of Tomie dePaola
More than fifty original illustrations by the author of over 100 children's books are on display at the Museo during the holiday season.

The books are rich in allusions to dePaola's Italian American childhood. Though a native and still a resident of New England, dePaola has a strong following in the Bay Area. He received his Master of Fine Arts degree from the California College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland, and from 1967 to 1970 was Assistant Professor of Art at the San Francisco College for Women.

Among his many honors are the Friends of American Writers award as best illustrator of a children's book in 1973, and the selection of his popular Strega Nona as Caldecott Honor Book for 1976. His work is currently on display at the Art Institute of Chicago.

The exhibit opens December 9 and continues through February 14, 1993. The Museo is open Wednesday through Sunday, noon to 5pm. Admission is free to Museo members, $2 general, $1 seniors and fulltime students. Children under 12 are admitted free. The Museo is closed during the holidays, December 24 through 27 and 31, and January 1 through 3.

A play based on dePaola's The Legend of Old Befana is presented to school groups at the Museo in December. Public performances for families take place on December 19 and 20 (see below). The artist will appear in person on the Feast of the Befana, Wednesday, January 6, 1993. Call the Museo for details.

A WINTER ARTS FAIR

The 14th Annual Celebration of Craftswomen, "A Winter Arts Fair," is the largest juried women's crafts fair in the United States, featuring the work of 230 women from all over the country. It includes many artists whose work cannot be seen at any other fairs.

The Celebration, presented by the San Francisco Women's Building, provides an opportunity to shop for unique, attractively-priced handmade gifts, and a final chance to celebrate the Year of the Woman.

This year's show features everything from handmade quilts to leather masks, blown glass and pottery, plus demonstrations of dollmaking, weaving and other crafts, ongoing entertainment and a powerful exhibit in tribute to the International Celebration of 500 Years of Resistance.

Items on display range from rugs, ceramics, jewelry, leather goods, masks, prints and paintings to musical instruments, photographs and wood carvings.

Demonstrations include Guatemalan backstrap weaving, ceramics and dollmaking. Highlights include "Clothing for the Body and Soul" by Rachel Kincy Clark, a folk artist whose quilted clothing shows personalized themes or stories, and maskmaker Annie Hallat, who invites patrons to make their own holiday gifts.

The Cultural Rainbow Cabaret, a multicultural melange of entertainment, is open continuously with music, comedy, dance and drama by some of the Bay Area's most talented female performers. Each Fair day is themed: Latin America (December 12), Asia (December 13), Europe and the Middle East (December 19) and Africa (December 20).

The exhibit, "Quincentennial: Chicana and Latina Perspectives," presents the female perspective on 500 years of cultural identity, conflict, alienation and hope among the indigenous peoples of the Americas, as seen by 45 Latina artists, many of national renown. Proceeds from exhibit sales benefit the SF Women's Building.

The objective of the Celebration of Craftswomen is to promote visibility, economic justice and empowerment of women artists and craftswomen, particularly those outside the mainstream. While work is juried primarily on quality and originality, an effort is made to showcase a cross-section of art by women of different cultural backgrounds.

The fair is an annual benefit for the San Francisco Women's Building, the only women-owned, women-operated advocacy, service and social action center in the country.

Founded in 1979, the Women's Building is now a nationally-recognized nonprofit institution providing low-cost space and support for local women's groups. It has helped launch more than 125 women's projects, including the successful San Francisco Women's Philharmonic, and sponsors ongoing health and human services projects for Bay Area women, children and men.

The Fair takes place in the Herbst Pavilion, 10am to 6pm Saturday and Sunday, December 12-13 and 19-20. The exhibit is in the Bayfront Gallery adjacent to the Pavilion. For details, see Galleries page.

Ethnic foods, gourmet coffee and delicious desserts are available. Free childcare is provided. Tickets are $5, available at the door. Special discounts for groups. For information, call 431-4141.

CHILDREN OF LIGHT

A Christmas celebration and crafts sale at Fort Mason celebrates the children who have found new homes and families in this country through the efforts of a Mill Valley nonprofit organization.

Sponsored by Children of Light International Adoption, the event also benefits those still in orphanages in the Commonwealth of Independent States and Eastern European countries.

The organization has successfully completed thirty adoptions this year, many of them with Bay Area families. After only a few months, the children are adjusting well.

Children of Light is now working to expand its medical aid program and direct aid to the orphanages. An ongoing collection of clothing, toys and medical supplies is underway to fill a shipping container to be sent to the orphanages in Minsk, Belarus, to brighten the holiday season for the children still living there.

Proceeds will also support the medical aid program in which children in need of medical care not available in their own country are brought to the United States for the time necessary to complete their medical treatment.

In addition to many Romanian children brought here for medical care last year, the organization is assisting a girl from Belarus who was severely burned in a fire. She has been placed in the Portland area and has obtained the extensive plastic surgery necessary to give her a more normal appearance.

In the San Francisco Bay Area, there are several success stories. A four-year-old girl, now living with her new mother in the East Bay, was born without her right leg below the knee. She was provided with her first prosthesis by another Children of Light family whose business is artificial limbs.

With the help of Shriners Hospital, this little girl is walking upright on two legs for the first time in her life. An extremely bright child, she has begun to communicate in English with her new mother, telling about her life in the orphanage in Minsk.

Two brothers and a sister, from four to seven years old, were found starving and neglected in Moscow, and placed in an orphanage. They are now living in Marin County in a beautiful home with wonderful new parents and a teenage brother and sister.

Many other such cases are in progress. Donations of children's clothing, toys, medical supplies and funds are welcomed by the organization. For information about making donations, contact Candace Johnson at Children of Light, 381-3522.

The Christmas Crafts Fair, with musicians, dancers and refreshments available, takes place on Saturday, December 19, from 10am to 4pm in the Conference Center, Landmark Building A. Admission is by suggested donation of $3. For information, call 381-3522.

POETRY FILM FESTIVAL

"Most of us have been raised and conditioned by the visual media so it follows readily that poetry recombined in film would make a highly communicable format," says Poetry Film Workshop Director Herman Berlandt. "Of course many beautiful cine-poems have been made which convey poetic ideas wordlessly, but a poetry-film, in our formal use of the concept, must incorporate a verbal poetic statement in narrated or captioned form."

The Seventeenth Poetry Film & Video Festival is presented at Fort Mason's Landmark Building D by The National Poetry Association.

The Festival consists of a seminar, showings of previous award-winners, screenings of this year's entries, and concludes with a reshowing of the films selected as the best of 1992.

Berlandt, who conducts demonstrations at the seminar, continues his definition: "A poetry-film strives for a unity of mood in which words and images contribute equally in communicating the message.

"The impact of the effective poetry-film is always greater than the sum of its parts, the poem often providing theme and format for the film, the film fleshing out the meaning, thus enhancing the impact of the words. Music, of course, sustains the drama of both and acts as catalyst in fusing the mood.

"The best poetry-films are often brief and compact with an ideal duration of only 3 to 5 minutes. If the cutting is dynamic and the theme is well-stated, it commands the audience's concentration at the outset. Often a slow static visual backdrop makes a hypnotic foil which frees the ear to listen intensely and unencumbered to the poem. Likewise, captions in silence will permit dynamic filmic rhythms to fascinate the eye."

The program begins on December 5 and 6, with a public seminar on Saturday, from 2 to 3:30pm. From 3:45 to 5pm, a retrospective of First Place Award-winners is shown. There are three screening sessions of 1992 entries: Saturday from 6:30 to 9:30pm; Sunday from 2 to 5pm; and Sunday from 6:30 to 9:30pm. Programs include a ballot for audience feedback. This year, more than sixty films will be shown.

On Sunday, December 13 from 7:30 to 9:30pm, 1992 Festival Award-winners will be announced and shown. Poetry-film samplers on VHS will be available at nominal prices. Admission to all events on December 5 and 6 is $5. The program on December 13 is $3. For information, call 776-6602.

A CHILD SHALL LEAD

The San Francisco African American Historical and Cultural Society presents "Real Rock and The Peaceable Realm," an exhibit focusing on the creative efforts of Bay Area artists to improve their ecological surroundings, both locally and globally.

Real Rock is a collection of children's artwork from the Hayes Valley Art/Learning Center, organized by local artist Toni Lane. The works are products of the experiences of African American inner-city children.

Rocks were used as the essential artistic medium to counteract the negative association of the word rock with rock cocaine. This is often the only meaning understood by these children.

The project was implemented to provide the children with a safe educational environment to learn about creative self-expression and their cultural heritage. They have produced colorful objects, meant to be touched, that are enlightening expressions of what it means to grow up in the inner city.

The Peaceable Realm is an internationally-recognized painting by artist Potenza, whose primary objective is to promote world peace. It is one of the world's largest paintings created by one artist, measuring seven feet high by 360 feet long. The theme is "The lion lies with the lamb, and a child shall lead them."

The painting will tour worldwide, to inspire conversations about a world at peace, and to raise the question "What can you do to make a difference?"

"The Peaceable Realm" was shown at UNICEF's international press conference for the annual State of the World report on children and the United Nations Children's Candlelight Vigil.

"Real Rock and The Peaceable Kingdom" is on display in the Historical and Cultural Society's gallery, Landmark Building C. The show opened November 5 and continues through January 3, Wednesday through Sunday, noon to 5pm. Open Christmas Eve, 11am to 4pm; closed Christmas Day. A children's reception will be held Saturday, December 12 from 2 to 4pm. The public is welcome to attend. Admission is $1 general, $.50 children. For information, call 441-0640.
